Colonial regime & India 1947 & Distribution. National Income and Labor Force by Sector & India's Economy Since Independence / Edited by Uma Kapila. Book; Book / illustrated
- 1990. § 1 The colonial regime in India was established as a result of the Anglo-Sikh wars. In 1947 the majority of the population were Hindus, Sikhs, Muslims and Jews. Prior to colonization, each of these groups had their own economic organizations, as well as separate educational and religious systems. In India, there was not a single education system that was not under the direct control of the Indian authorities. In 1948, the two major religions united under Hinduism, and this gave them equal rights.
