

Expected release date: Nov 4th, 2014 After receiving such praise, Rogue State is finally releasing with a soundtrack! This is a big step forward for us and we're extremely happy to be able to share it with you. The soundtrack is composed by Jeremy Soule (The Book of Mana, Star Ocean: The Last Hope). The soundtrack represents the atmosphere of Rogue State perfectly. It has you rooting for the humans in their struggle against the machine. It even has you playing along on the bad guys side! Fans of Mana, Ragnarok Odyssey, and many other games will find enjoyment in this soundtrack. If you're interested in Jeremy Soule, he is one of the founding and creative directors of the video game developer/publisher Spicy Horse. He is a musician himself who has composed music for several different video games such as Avernum, Star Ocean: The Last Hope, The Book of Mana, etc. More information can be found on our official page! About Jeremy Soule: Jeremy Soule is a video game composer, songwriter, and musician. In the RPG game industry, he is known for his work on The Book of Mana (as composer and narrator), Avernum 3, The Star Ocean: The Last Hope, Valkyrie Profile, Odin Sphere, and Ragnarok Odyssey. He has also been working on video game soundtracks, including his work on the games Fire Emblem: Awakening, Fire Emblem: The Sacred Stones, and Fire Emblem: Three Houses. He has also composed the soundtrack of the children's book The Giving Tree and has been listed in several publications as a "game music musician who really knows how to write melodies." Jeremy's work has been covered by several music publications, such as RPGFan, Moomba, Soundtrack, and The Music Box. to call him or visit your local farm supply store. Or ask your local feed store for suggestions. (Watch for sales when buying new fencing supplies.) How you'll protect your investment When shopping for materials, the first thing you should do is look for mesh with slits or eyelets for visibility. It can be harder to monitor a bird-feeder that's covered in burlap. Where will you hang your feeder? You can't put it in a high-traffic area unless you build a sturdy platform. Flanking the platform with a low-moving, strong fence also makes it safer against deer and coyotes. For additional protection, you can check out the proven and effective electric fencing systems made by versions of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's electric bird-feeder, sometimes called the "Orange Crush." Many of these systems are covered by manufacturer warranties, available at feed stores, and they're relatively cheap as a nest box or cage. You can also attach a camera to your bird-feeder and monitor your birds from a safe distance. Hunting cameras, motion trackers, and infrared cameras will appeal to someone who wants to know more about their wildlife. "If you want to protect your birds from predators, consider adding protective features like electric fencing," said Marissa, a wildlife biologist with the USDA. "Most bluebirds and grackles appear to either learn fear or

Conspiracy - why is it related to the David Icke 'New World Order'? What does the 'Adept' symbol (Image by C.R.Cachola C.R.C. on Flickr) Introduction I'd like to begin by referencing several quotes made by Dale Silverman to explain some of the ideas I have presented here. Dale's account can be found in the following search: Dale Silverman To understand where all of this is leading one needs to understand that I am a member of a community of people who live according to a philosophy called Tantra (tantra is a Sanskrit word which can mean a number of things). That community has a name which means a phrase of science in a short word. We call it www.Astralnet.com. It is an internet based community of people who experience things that the rest of the world experiences as after effects. The term Astralnet refers to the site and the side-by-side term Astralnet was coined by me as a metaphor for this phenomenon. It also embraces the science of remote viewing which is also based on a set of philosophical principles; one set of which is physics. Most people have experience paranormal phenomena without knowing it and many of these phenomena cannot be explained by our ordinary sensory system. Since our ordinary sensory system is the only one that we are accustomed to, it remains unexamined. As a result, our knowing does not use the powers of our senses but just the limits of those senses. I recently found the experience I will now relate to be unsettling, for we are about to find out how the cells and the nervous system work. What began to happen to me was that I began to see numbers and words at the edge of my vision. While driving down the freeway I noticed that my logical mind would catch up to what was passing and I would imagine that it was lined up on a scale and the word or number was the amount of magick that it represented. This fascinated me, and one day, after contemplating all of this, I felt the need to relate all of this to something that I understood, which was the physics of the world. I would imagine that the numbers were resonating because our language follows the physical laws of the world. In addition to which, mathematical relationships are expressed in
